THE PURCELL SCHOOL FOR YOUNG MUSICIANS

The Purcell School of Music in Watford, England, isn't an ordinary school. It's a school for young people who are very good musicians. There are 175 students at the school, aged from 9 to 18 years old. Some students live at the school and some go home every day when they finish their classes.

All the students in the school practice their musical instruments every day, sometimes for more than six hours! Many students learn to play more than one musical instrument and some also learn how to write music.

Students also study normal school subjects like English, Maths and science, but music is always at the centre of everything that happens at the school.

There are more than 150 concerts at the school each year when parents can come to watch their children perform. For students at the Purcell School of Music, music is the most important part of their daily lives. So many of the students go to this school because they want to become famous musicians after they leave.
